

The Three Universal Laws

Universal Laws are based on Common Law Principles. We are responsible and accountable for our actions as all laws are agreed to between individuals and are not subject to admiralty or corporate laws operating in commerce, where directors and leaders can hide behind a corporate entity thereby avoiding individual accountability.

Universal law protects the individual and does not employ state punishment but rather community justice. The three Universal laws are as follows:

Do not harm anyone.
Do not damage any property.
Do that which you have promised to do.

Universal Laws ensures Lawful and Impartial Judiciary

Updated September 10th, 2015

Discover the Universal Alliance
Guiding Principles through which we invite the people to create an equitable society.

Universal Alliance.org